

Introducing a World-Class Panel of Speakers

This is your chance to discuss and discover unique investment ideas with some of the world's smartest minds in finance, investment research, economics, and natural resources.

We're excited to introduce our team of renowned speakers – including legendary investors, best-selling authors, industry experts, and top-rated presenters who you can expect to hear from at this year's Symposium.

But first, we'd like you to meet our host, Rick Rule, recognized by The Mining Journal as one of the ten most influential people in mining, and our returning Symposium chairman.

Rick Rule
President and Chief Executive Officer, Sprott U.S. Holdings Inc.

Rick Rule has dedicated his entire adult life to natural resource investing. He has gained unmatched knowledge and experience in a long and focused career, and amassed a worldwide network of contacts in the areas of natural resource and finance.

He leads a highly skilled team of earth science and finance professionals who enjoy a worldwide reputation for resource investing.

Rick is a frequent speaker at financial conferences and is regular guest on numerous radio, television, print and online media outlets for his views on natural resource investments and other industry topics.

Rick and his team have experience in oil and gas, mining, agriculture, alternative energy, forestry and water. He has originated and participated in hundreds of debt and equity transactions with private, pre-public and public companies.

Rick is an investor with an eye for small, undervalued companies. He has a virtual encyclopedia of knowledge – and is a "can't-miss" at the Sprott Vancouver Natural Resource Symposium 2017.

Introducing our Keynote Speakers:

James Rickards
Editor, *Strategic Intelligence

Back by popular demand is one of the most highly reviewed speakers from last year's Symposium, Jim Rickards.

If you subscribe to any financial newsletters, you may already be familiar with his name. He's the editor of Agora Financial's Strategic Intelligence.

He's also written three New York Times best sellers, The Death of Money (2014), and Currency Wars (2011). His newest book, The New Case for Gold (2016) predicts the failure of the world monetary system.

He wrote Op-Eds to the Financial Times, Evening Standard, New York Times, and Washington Post. Jim has also appeared on BBC, CNN, NPR, CSPAN, CNBC, Bloomberg, Fox, and The Wall Street Journal. Forbes called him the "James Bond of gold."

Besides writing, Jim is a portfolio manager, lawyer, and economist. He's also held senior positions at Citibank, Long-Term Capital Management, and Caxton Associates.

Mr. Rickards lectured at the Johns Hopkins University and the Kellogg School at Northwestern. He's delivered papers on risk at Singularity University and the Los Alamos National Laboratory.

His career, which spans over 35 years, has been nothing less than extraordinary. In fact, he helped negotiate the release of the American hostages in Iran back in 1981.

And in 1998 the Wall Street firm, Long-Term Capital Management was about to cause a market collapse. The Federal Reserve consulted with him to avoid a recession.

He also helped the CIA investigate stock market activity before 9/11. Signs showed anomalous activity that appears to have predicted the attack.

He even consulted with the Pentagon a few years ago at a top secret "Area 51" type of facility. There, they conducted the first "financial war game."

Today, he still advises the Office of the Director of National Intelligence. This organization that oversees 14 U.S. intelligence services includes the CIA, the Department of Homeland Security, and the NSA.

And, Jim will be presenting our keynote address. He'll combine his unique background as a government insider with his economic expertise. You'll learn how to navigate the volatile market we have seen this year.

Bottom line: there's no one better to help us understand the macroeconomic trends in the world today than Jim Rickards.

David Stockman
Author and Former U.S. Budget Official

David Stockman is the ultimate Washington insider turned iconoclast.

Stockman began his career in Washington as a young man and quickly rose through the ranks of the Republican Party to become the Director of the Office of Management and Budget under President Ronald Reagan. He was the youngest cabinet member of the 20th century.

After leaving the White House, Stockman had a 20-year career on Wall Street, first at the Wall Street investment bank, Salomon Bros. He later became one of the original partners at New York-based private equity firm, The Blackstone Group. Stockman left Blackstone in 1999 to start his own private equity fund based in Greenwich, Connecticut.

He's written several best-selling books, including The Triumph of Politics: Why the Reagan Revolution Failed and The Great Deformation: The Corruption of Capitalism in America.

In his latest book, Trumped!: A Nation on the Brink of Ruin and How to Bring it Back, Stockman discusses how America's financial system has become an unstable, bubble-prone gambling arena that undermines capitalist prosperity and showers speculators with vast windfall gains.

At the podium, Stockman's expertise and experience cannot be matched, and he has a reputation for zesty, financial straight talk.

We can't wait to hear him speak this year in Vancouver.

Robert Friedland

Founder and Executive Chairman, Ivanhoe Mines

For more than 25 years, international financier Robert Friedland has been recognized by leaders of the international financial sector and mineral resource industries as an entrepreneurial explorer, technology innovator and company builder. Mr.

Friedland has successfully developed a portfolio of respected public and private companies whose initiatives have led to several of the world's most significant mineral discoveries and mine developments, applications of disruptive technologies and contributions to significant economic growth in established and emerging markets in Asia, the Asia Pacific Region, Sub-Saharan Africa and the Americas.

Mr. Friedland's enterprise and leadership gained prominent, industry recognition in January 2016 when he was inducted into the prestigious Canadian Mining Hall of Fame. The citation acknowledged his company-building and exploration achievements, honouring him as "a dynamic, transformative force in the Canadian and international mining industries" and "one of the most recognized mining personalities and achievers in the world". Mr. Friedland said at the ceremony that he shared the honour with several teams of dedicated individuals whose efforts with his companies during the past 30 years had contributed to a series of notable discoveries and new mines. Housed at the University of Toronto, the Hall of Fame is featured in the Treasures from Earth galleries at the Royal Ontario Museum, Toronto.

In May 2017, Mr. Friedland received a Lifetime Achievement Award during the Canadian Mining Symposium at Canada House in London, England — a career recognition by the Northern Miner, the century-old flagship of Canada's leading mining-industry media group.

From its founding in 1994, the Ivanhoe Mines enterprise brand has evolved as Mr. Friedland's pre-eminent, publicly traded flagship for international mining and mineral exploration. He has served variously as the company's Executive Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer.

Between 1996 and 2012, the inaugural Ivanhoe Mines and its subsidiaries conducted or participated in mining operations in Mongolia, Australia, China, Myanmar, South Korea and Fiji, and built a large shareholder base through listings on North America's Toronto, New York and NASDAQ stock exchanges.

In 1998, Mr. Friedland founded Ivanplats to advance mineral prospects in Sub-Saharan Africa. As Executive Chairman, Mr. Friedland led Ivanplats' successful initial public offering in 2012 that raised CDN$306 million (US$308 million) from international investors. It was the largest Canadian mining IPO in more than two years. Ivanplats subsequently assumed the 'Ivanhoe Mines' name in a strategic corporate alignment in 2013 as the company was structuring an organization to manage its three concurrent mine development projects and ongoing exploration programs. Mr. Friedland is Executive Chairman of the successor Ivanhoe Mines, a renewed and refocused explorer and mine builder whose shares trade on Canada's Toronto Stock Exchange and the OTCQX Best Market in the United States.

And Jim Rickards, David Stockman and Robert Friedland are only the beginning.

Our expansive list of world-class speakers also includes:

Spencer Abraham
Former Secretary of Energy, Chairman of Uranium Energy Corp. (NYSE MKT: UEC)

Under his leadership, the department made major advances in the development of new energy technologies, successfully implemented a variety of nuclear nonproliferation and nuclear security programs after the September 11 attacks, and launched initiatives to improve the nation's energy security. He also had responsibility for U.S. national labs and energy research activities.

Abraham now serves as the Chairman of Uranium Energy Corp. and he is a member of the board of directors of Occidental Petroleum. Previously he was the non-executive chairman of AREVA's U.S. board.

Matt Badiali
Senior Editor at Banyan Hill Publishing

Matt has a hands-on, go-anywhere, talk-to-everyone approach to his investment prospects and research. His work has taken him to Papua New Guinea, Iraq, Hong Kong, Singapore, Haiti, Turkey, Switzerland and many other locations around the world. He's visited countless mines and oil wells the world over, interrogated CEOs about their latest resource prospects and analyzed all manner of geologic data.

He's found that you don't really know what's going on unless you see it for yourself. That goes for everything from local politics to company results. The best way to be sure an investment is safe (and correctly made) is to see it in person.

And Matt's training as a geologist has enabled him to identify certain red flags that are best seen on the ground. For example, he likes to check on how skilled the drilling crews are — how long it takes them to drill a hole. Or how smooth the operation runs ... in small companies, drilling often makes up the largest expense. Watching the drillers can tell a lot about the health and potential of a company.

For the last decade-plus, Matt has married his knowledge gained as a geologist with his training as an investor to uncover great profits.

Prior to joining Banyan Hill, Matt was a geologist for a drilling company and a consultant to an environmental company.

Matt has a B.S. in Earth Sciences from Penn State University and a Masters in Geology from Florida Atlantic University.

Ross Beaty

He has also founded a number of other public resource companies.

Mr. Beaty is a past President of the Silver Institute, a Fellow of the Geological Association of Canada and the Canadian Institute of Mining, Metallurgy and Petroleum (“CIM”), and a recipient of CIM’s Past President Memorial Medal. Mr. Beaty has received numerous awards for his contribution to the mining industry, including: the Vale Medal for Meritorious Contribution to Mining from CIM (2014), Mining Person of the Year from Canada’s Northern Miner newspaper (2011), the Viola MacMillan Award from the Prospector and Developers’ Association (2010), the Colin Spence Award for excellence in global mineral exploration from the B.C. Association of Mineral Exploration (2007), Mining Person of the Year from the Mining Association of B.C. (2008), and Natural Resources & Energy Entrepreneur of the Year Award from Ernst & Young (2008). A strong supporter of environmental initiatives, Mr. Beaty is also President of the Sitka Foundation, a patron of the Beaty Biodiversity Center at the University of B.C., a member of the of the Advisory Board of the Nature Trust of British Columbia, and Director of the Pacific Salmon Foundation.

Mr. Beaty holds a M.Sc., in Mineral Exploration (with Distinction) from the Royal School of Mines, University of London, England, and an LL.B. (Law) and a B.Sc. (Honours Geology) from the University of British Columbia. He was born in Vancouver, Canada.
